

UC DAVIS MIDDLE EAST/SOUTH ASIA STUDIES PRESENTS THE 2ND ANNUAL

ME/SA RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

Middle Eastern and South Asian Studies are rapidly growing fields of research reflected in many disciplines – from comparative literature, anthropology, music, feminist and gender studies, sociology, political science, and history, just to name a few. This is an invitation to share in the work, academic and/or creative in nature, of your peers and community members. The goal of this symposium is to create a space for the students of UC Davis and the nearby universities to engage in a symposium setting centered on their work.

Come and support our panelists and their research!

Panels this year include:

- Remembrance, Resistance, Redemption and Rights
- New York Times' Islam, Muslims and Arabs
- Graffiti, Criminality, Youth and Transnationalism
- Food, Reproduction and Community Care

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 2015

MU II, MEMORIAL UNION
1:00PM

REFRESHMENTS AND DINNER WILL BE SERVED

This symposium is sponsored by Middle East/South Asia Studies and the Division of Student Affairs at University of California, Davis.

For more information, contact Shyama Kuver at srkuver@ucdavis.edu or call (530)-752-3473.