HISTORY OF MODERN PALESTINE & ISRAEL

HIS 113 | WINTER 2027

REGISTRATION OPEN SOON!

What does it mean to decolonize history? This course examines the modern history of Palestine and Israel, challenging representations of the region as mired in conflict to consider how these histories have been thought about and constructed for a century. We explore Palestinian and Israeli histories in the 20th-21st centuries, including settler colonialism, nationalism, exile, refugees, sectarianism, diaspora politics, and genocide. The course consults first-hand accounts from Palestinian and Israeli archives and scholars to situate the land, its past, and its present in context. Format: Lecture, exams, term paper.

Meets MWF, 10-10:50am
Winter 2027, CRN 40019

Interested? Contact Dr. Stacy Fahrenthold: sfahrenthold@ucdavis.edu